To aid those unfamiliar with the few cultural directions necessary to insure success we have prepared the chart below.

Bulbs indoors do not require the deep planting indicated in this diagram, there being no danger from frost to guard against. Cultural directions for bulbs in the house are given in the pages following in connection with the various varieties.

HYACINTHS

Out-Door Culture in Beds or Borders—The bulbs may be planted any time from October to December, before the winter frosts set in. They succeed in any good, well-drained garden soil. Dig deep, and mix in a little thoroughly decomposed manure, if it is at hand, being careful that none of the manure comes in direct contact with the bulbs. Set the bulbs so that the tops will be about four inches below the surface and six inches apart, with a little sand under and about them, if it is convenient.

Before very severe weather comes on, it is necessary to cover the bulbs with straw, leaves or manure, to protect them from the severe cold during winter; care should be taken that this covering is not too thick and dense, the bulbs are as likely to be injured by being kept too warm as by freezing. The covering should be removed in March, and the result will be certain.

In ordinary seasons the bulbs will blossom about the middle of April. The flowers may be cut freely without injury to the bulbs. When the flowers fade, the flower stalk should be removed to strengthen the bulbs, and when the leaves have faded, the bulbs should be lifted and allowed to remain a week or two in open boxes until perfectly dry; then after removing the leaves and stems, they will be ready to pack away in a cool, dry place for autumn use.

Pot Culture in the House—Bulbs delight in a light porous soil, composed of garden loam, leaf mould and sand. Use four or five inch pots for Hyacinths and Narcissus. Place some pieces of broken pots in the bottom to insure free drainage, put about two inches of soil in the pot and set the bulb in the center, then fill in the soil until the bulb is covered. Set the pot down with a sharp rap once or twice to settle the soil and bulb well. Water well and set in a cool, dark place while the bulbs are making roots, as it is necessary these should form before the leaves or flowers. They should be left in this condition for several weeks at a temperature of about 50 degrees until they begin to show top growth. They should then be placed in a good light in a temperature of 50 to 60 degrees, and watered frequently. By bringing the pots to the light at different times a succession of bloom may be had. Bulbs cannot be forced the second time, but will do well for outdoor planting.

Glass Culture—To grow in glasses, select a dark colored glass, fill with water until the base of the bulb rests on the water, and set away in the dark, as directed for pot culture. Fill up the glass with water as fast as it evaporates. If the water becomes impure, it should be changed and the roots well cleansed before putting in again. A small piece of charcoal put in the glass will keep the water pure much longer. After the roots have attained a good growth, the glass can be brought into the light and placed in a cool room near a window. Give them as much fresh air as possible without a direct draught, plenty of light, and keep the glasses sufficiently full of water. Do not keep them in a close, warm room, nor about a fire-place. If removed out of the direct rays of the sun when in bloom, the flowers will last longer.

ROMAN HYACINTHS

Each bulb gives several flower stalks, and by successive plantings, can be had in flower from November to March. The flowers are single, somewhat smaller than the ordinary Hyacinth, but very fragrant; popular with florists for cut flowers. The best effect is produced by planting four or five bulbs in one medium sized pot. May be planted out doors, but in latitude north of 40 degrees should be given protection through the winter. They will bloom outdoors about with the crocus.

SPECIAL OFFER NAMED HYACINTHS BY THE DOZEN.

To those who prefer to leave the selection to us, we will furnish Hyacinths from the foregoing list at the following prices per DOZEN, each dozen to contain a good selection of the different and most desirable colors, single and double, and all firstclass bulbs.

No. 1—One doz. fine NAMED sorts, for pots or glasses, postage paid1 10

No. 2—One dozen CHOICE NAMED sorts, for pots or glasses, postage paid1 10

Those who desire them for pots or glasses for winter flowering will please state that fact and we will select the kinds best adapted for the purpose. Those who have a particular choice of two or three varieties that they wish sent in the dozen will be accommodated as far as possible. As a general rule Single Hyacinths are much the best for the house, only a few of the double kinds doing uniformly well for house culture. Where the selection is left to us, therefore, our friends must not be surprised to find, at most, only three or four double varieties in a dozen. Where customers design to flower Hyacinths in water we seldom send double varieties unless particularly requested to do so.

Our mixtures are unexcelled for use where an effective display is wanted in the open air, and are of such superior quality as to be entirely satisfactory to florists and others who use large numbers for forcing. They comprise the finest shades of color and must not be confounded with the cheap mixtures sometimes offered for out door planting.

TULIPS

It is difficult to conceive anything more pleasing to the eye than a bed of Tulips. Their great variety of color, intense brilliancy and beautiful shading, make them universal favorites. Another great consideration in their favor is the ease with which they can be cultivated, requiring only good common soil to grow them to perfection. The price, too, as compared with other bulbs, places them within the reach of all. There is no class of bulbs that makes so rich and gorgeous a display of blossoms with so little attention and care in cultivation, and at so trifling a cost. The Tulip has been so much improved by the Dutch cultivators that it ranks high in the floral world. In form, wealth of color, and the variety of its markings, it is one of the most perfect of flowers.

The culture of Tulips is the same as that of Hyacinths, except that the bulbs should be planted a little deeper, and about four inches apart. Tulips are perfectly hardy, so only a slight protection from extreme cold and sharp winds is desirable. All of the single varieties force readily, and of late have become great favorites in the house in mid-winter. If potted in September, and treated as directed for Hyacinths, they may be had in bloom in December. When they show a tendency to bloom just above the bulbs, they must be kept longer in the dark to draw out the flower stems. A splendid effect is obtained by planting from three to a dozen bulbs in a medium sized pan.

Varieties marked E are the earliest to bloom; E 1 following; E 2 the latest.

SINGLE LATE, OR MAY-FLOWERING TULIPS

For the Open Ground Only

These are grown by the florist and amateur for their beautiful bloom. They remain in fine condition much longer than the earlier classes and we recommend them as most desirable for brilliant and lasting displays. They are much taller than the preceding varieties, usually growing to a height of nearly two feet. A bulb planted in the fall blooms the following May. These may be taken up in August and replanted in October or left in place, just as is deemed best.

NARCISSUS (Daffodils)

A beautiful class of early blooming flowers, both for out-door and for use as cut flowers in the house. Their colors, varying from pure white to bright orange, their delicious fragrance, their easy culture and thriftiness, even in a smoky city atmosphere, entitles them to the greatest popularity.

The double and single sorts are perfectly hardy and need not be disturbed oftener than once in three or four years and not then unless they have become too much crowded by offsets. Plant in the fall in good garden soil about four inches deep, and six to ten inches apart.

The Polyanthus varieties, though not hardy in our northern climate, unless planted in sandy soil and well protected during winter, succeed admirably outdoors in the South. For flowering in pots in the house nothing can be more satisfactory. They force admirably and flower freely in ordinary good soil, with apparently less care than the Hyacinths. They bloom about the first of February in dense clusters, two and three flower stalks to each bulb, while the earliest of all, the pure Paper White, will come into bloom as early as December.

A cool, natural temperature suits them best. Pot in the fall; let them root for two months in the dark, then remove to the conservatory or sitting room, and water as often as the soil requires moisture.

(If desired by mail, add at the rate of 10c. per dozen for postage. Single bulbs 2s and 3s mailed free.)

CROCUS

Crocus

These gay flowers spring up to the light almost before the grass is green, delighting the eye and charming the senses with their bright-hued cups of many colors. You cannot plant too many—a good place is any place—in groups, in figures, in lines at the edge of walks, etc. With a trowel or spade make a slanting opening about two inches deep, put in the bulb, then with the foot press back the sod. This is all. Could any flower planting be easier? (If desired by mail, add for postage at the rate of 15c. per 100. Dozens mailed free.)

Chinese Sacred Lily or Oriental Narcissus

(A variety of Polyanthus Narcissus.)

This variety of Polyanthus Narcissus originally came from China. The flowers are pure silvery white with golden yellow cups, chaste and graceful in appearance and of exquisite fragrance. The great wealth of dark green leaves adds much to their beauty. You can almost see them grow, succeeding almost everywhere and with everybody. They do well in pots of earth, but are more novel and beautiful grown in shallow bowls of water, with enough fancy pebbles to prevent them from toppling over when in bloom. A dozen bulbs started at intervals, will give a succession of flowers throughout the winter. (See cut.)

We are importing direct from China, the true large flowering variety. Price (extra large bulbs) 12c each; $1.35 per dozen, postpaid. By express, at purchaser's expense, or at store, 10c each; $1.00 per dozen.

AMARYLLIS

The Knight's Star Lily.

Probably the most magnificent and gorgeous flowering bulbous plants known. Their immense flowers, richness of coloring and regal habit, are simply incomparable. They throw up spikes from eighteen inches to three feet high, bearing enormous trumpet shaped flowers, averaging six to ten inches across, of great substance. For pot culture in the window, conservatory or greenhouse, they are well adapted, and when in bloom in the winter and spring months no flower can approach their beauty.

Johnsonii. A lovely variety of rich velvety bright red, with a white stripe down each petal. An early and abundant bloomer, and a specially robust grower. 40c. each; $4.00 per doz. Postage 5c. per bulb extra.

Formosissima. (Jacobean Lily.) A quaintly-shaped and beautiful flower of dark scarlet, free blooming; forces well, and can be grown in water like Hyacinths. If the bulbs are kept dry during the winter they can be planted in the open ground in the spring, and will flower during the summer. 10c. each; $1.00 per dozen. Postage 3c. per bulb extra.

Belladonna Major. (Belladonna Lily.) Autumn blooming variety of extreme beauty and fragrance. The spikes grow from 2 to 3 feet, each carrying from six to a dozen beautiful flowers. "Sweet as Lilies," of silvery white, flushed and tipped with rose. Extra large bulbs. 15c. each; $1.50 per doz. Postage 5c. per bulb extra.

GARDEN ANEMONE

Wind Flower.

Double and Single Anemone

One of the most beautiful and showy flowers. Exceedingly brilliant in color, of neat and compact growth, and with foliage elegantly cut. It is not quite hardy, but if planted in October or November, four or five inches apart, and covered three inches deep in a moist, rich, well-drained soil, then well protected by leaves and manure, success can confidently be expected. A northerly site, protected from the wind and too much sun is best. Make the soil rich, and water frequently in the spring. If the weather is hot when the Anemones are in bloom, shade partially in day time with cheese cloth or mosquito netting at about three feet above them, or cover the ground with moss to prevent the soil from becoming too dry. The bulbs may be kept till spring, when, if planted early, they will do well. For forcing in-doors, pot three or four roots in porous, rich soil, in a five-inch pot. Keep the pots in a cold frame or other moist, cool situation, until the roots are well started, when they may be removed to the place where they are desired to bloom. Avoid heat and dry air, and the rich various colored flowers will repay your care. Prices include postage.

CALLA

This is the well-known Egyptian Lily, or Lily of the Nile, with large, white flowers, broad foliage, and it will prosper under very adverse circumstances, if given plenty of water. It is an excellent plant for aquariums. In the spring they may be planted in the garden, but should not be encouraged to grow, rather let them remain in a partially dormant state until autumn, when they may be taken up, potted and removed to the house or conservatory. We have procured this season a large stock of extra strong Calla roots, which we offer our customers.

Calla, or Egyptian Lily. Our Calla roots are grown for us in California, where the Calla is perfectly at home and grows magnificently. Good flowering tubers, each 15c.; extra strong tubers, each 20c.; by mail, postage paid.

New Dwarf, Calla "Little Gem." A perfect Calla in miniature, never exceeding twelve inches in height; foliage similar in shape to ordinary variety, but much smaller and more graceful and delicate. Likewise the flowers, which are perfect in form, but not more than two and a half inches in diameter, and are pure white. It produces these beautiful flowers in great profusion and almost continuously. 15c. each, postage paid.

Arum Sanctum or Black Calla. Very peculiar and interesting. Each 25c., postage paid.

Dwarf Calla Calla Ethiopica

Crown Imperial

CROWN IMPERIAL

(Fritilaria Imperialis)

A tall, stately plant, with beautiful flowers of various colors, and having glands at the base of each petal, which shine with a peculiar lustre and resemble pearls. Plant five to six inches deep and one foot apart in good, rich soil, in October or November. The bulbs need not be disturbed oftener than once in three or four years. Prices include postage.

Crown Imperial, mixed varieties. Each 15c.; dozen $1.25.

CYCLAMEN

These are among the most beautiful and interesting winter and spring flowering bulbs for the window and greenhouse. Not only are the flowers of striking beauty but the foliage is also highly ornamental, consequently they are very decorative, even when not in bloom. There are no plants better adapted for pot culture, and few that produce such a profusion of bloom. The flowers range through many shades, pink, crimson, white, etc., some being beautifully spotted. Most of them delicately fragrant. (See cut.)

Cyclamen

COLCHICUM—AUTUMNALUM

A species of crocus, producing its flowers late in autumn, long after its leaves have disappeared. The following spring the plant throws up its foliage and ripens its seed. Six or eight flowers are produced from one bulb. Its culture is the same as given for crocus, except that it should be set out just as early in the fall as the bulbs can be procured. It is hardy and will endure the coldest weather. The bulbs do better if left undisturbed for several years. 10 cents each; $1.00 per dozen. Postage paid.

CHIONODOXA

Glory of the Snow

Chionodoxa Lucillae—A beautiful hardy spring flowering plant, very easy to cultivate. Excellent for winter blooming in the house, and also for cut flowers. Flowers very large and numerous, of a brilliant sky-blue, with a white center.

GALANTHUS—SNOW DROP

The first flower of spring is the delicate Snow Drop, white as snow. Its appearance about the first of March is a joyful surprise. The bulbs are quite small; the leaves and flowers about six inches in height. Plant in the fall in beds or masses of a dozen or more, about two inches apart and about the same depth. They are very desirable for growing in pots, etc., in the house in winter. A dozen may be planted in quite a small pot or saucer. A few planted on the lawn produce a fine effect early in the spring, and mowing will not destroy the bulbs, for the leaves will ripen so early that they will be pretty well matured before the grass will need cutting. Perfectly hardy, and the bulbs can remain several years without removal. Free by mail at prices quoted.

SCILLA

Siberica Amoena Praecox.—Among our most beautiful hardy spring bulbs, producing in profusion masses of exquisite rich blue flowers almost before the snow has disappeared. If grown in masses, their flowers fairly carpet the ground; and if grown with Snow Drops and Crocuses, for contrast, the effect is magnificent. They should be largely planted as undergrowth in Hyacinth beds, etc. Grown in pots, they may be had in bloom from Christmas until April. After growing in pots the bulbs can be set out in the garden. Three for 10c.; 30c. per doz.; $2.00 per 100. By mail, postage paid.

An elegant class of flowering bulbs, producing blossoms of rich color, quaint forms and sweet perfume, suitable for pots or borders. Those offered by us are all hardy. Iris Kaempferi, besides being hardy, is also admirable for its rich coloring and enormous flowers. Iris bulbs should be planted in October, in light, rich soil and protected by litter in the winter. Set the bulbs in clumps, two inches apart each way and three inches deep. Every third or fourth year they should be taken up and re-set. The flowers are very handsome, of various colors, fragrant, and freely produced. Prices include postage.

PAEONIES

Double (Chinese)

The Paeony, of all the list of bulbous or tuberous rooted plants, is, perhaps, the oldest and best known inhabitant of the flower garden. Paeonies will do well in almost any garden soil, but the better enriched, the more vigorous the growth. Fall is the best time to procure and transplant the roots, although this may be done in the spring. The plant is extremely hardy and will survive the coldest winters with little or no protection. The abundant dark green foliage is exceptionally clean and attractive. The gorgeous display of blooms in the month of June is simply unequaled, the flowers being perfectly double, many being very fragrant and all of immense size.

The autumn is a good time to set out small fruits, as by so doing they are sure to bear better the next season than if planted in the spring. We have a full line of Strawberries, Gooseberries, Currants, Blackberries, Raspberries and Grapes, on which we will gladly give quotations in any quantity.

A BEAUTIFUL LAWN

The essentials for a fine lawn are proper drainage, a careful preparation of the soil, which should be made as fine and light on the surface as possible, thorough rolling, and a selection of the seeds of such grasses as will present a luxuriant verdure from early spring till late in autumn, and then frequent mowings with a lawn mower. However much care is bestowed on the soil and seed, no lawn will be beautiful without frequent mowing and rolling. Too much care cannot be bestowed upon the selection of grasses, as some varieties are most luxuriant in spring, others in summer, others again in autumn, and a combination of the proper sorts is required for a perfect, carpet-like lawn. We have given much thought and made many experiments to secure the best selection, and think our park mixture the best possible for permanent lawns, resisting the severe droughts of our climate better than any other.

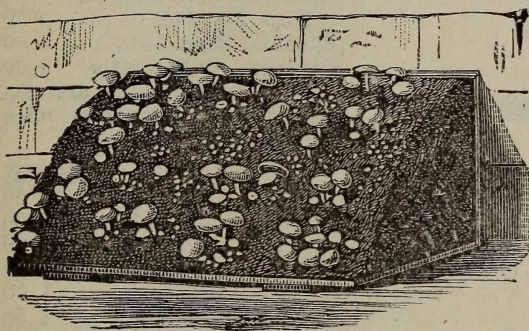

A lawn may be made in either fall or spring, and seed should be sown at the rate of from sixty to eighty pounds per acre. If sown in the fall, sow before the autumn rains have ceased, and before very cold weather give the young grass a light dressing of manure. One pound of this mixture is sufficient to sow a space of 300 square feet.
